II. Catalog Description

Prerequisite: ENGL 111 English Composition I, FILM 101 Art of the Movies: Film Appreciation and Analysis. This course is an introduction to the art and craft of screenwriting. Through the study of various screenplays, and the films made from them, the course analyzes the basics of film storytelling, classical screenplay structure, and the significance of narrative, characterization, dialogue and conflict. Students will learn the art of writing visually, the skills of critical analysis and the importance of the rewrite using film vocabulary. The course will also examine the similarities and differences between the short- and long-form narrative; the documentary and docu-drama script; as well as the business of screenwriting.

III. Statement of Course Need
A. Screenwriting satisfies the needs of a growing population of students who are interested in pursuing work in the film industry. Beyond creative writing skills, it is important to know how to structure the narrative story using industry terms and standards.

B. The course allows the student to focus specifically on the craft of writing purposeful, well-versed stories.

C. Screenwriting meets the needs of the students moving to advanced production courses and developing their digital video portfolio/resume for successful completion of the program.
